Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

The author of this column takes this occasion to pay personal tribute of respect and honor to the memory of the late mayor of this city, Alphonso ("Al") Seaman It is a privilege to look back over a brief friendship with this man, whose character was rare among men. He was so honest, that in the old-time saying of our fathers, he "leaned backward." Not only honest, was he, in all relations with his fellow men, but he was honest with himself. It was this integrity of spirit that permeated everything that he did. The smallest service done for others in his business in itself, embodied the best that was in him to do. And behind that honesty was a love of nature, a love of beauty, which after many years of yearning, perhaps, found its expression in Pioneers Park which with loving eye and hand he helped to bring into being and to which he had hoped through the years to bring ever developing beauty. He loved his city and it was in this unselfish and extra labor entailed in its upbuilding that his splendid health was broken. We mourn his passing, for men of his kind are too few.

While we do not for a moment believe that such events as the President's Birthday Ball last Thursday evening should ever be measured by any standard of business, some of those who falter when called to support this beneficent activity may be cheered by these facts which were gathered painstakingly by one especially interested in them: Three drug stores reported stimulation in cosmetics sales on Wednesday and Thursday. Four liquor establishments reported a brisk trade in supplying cocktail parties. Merchants engaged in selling women's and men's wear stated that business was unusually active during the early part of the week. Beauty shops and barbers were specially benefited by patronage of young men and women on Wednesday and Thursday. Service stations noted an increase of business throughout Thursday afternoon and evening. Fathers and mothers with little children hired girls and women to look after them while they attended the ball. Cafes and restaurants noted an increase in patronage during the evening. Most merchants and business men, therefore, who helped to make the President's Birthday Ball pay dividends for the child victims of infantile paralysis, received far more benefit from it than the sum they contributed.

Nevada City people are waiting with ears cupped toward San Francisco for some word from J. K. McLaughlin, state director of WPA projects. A new city hall project was proposed some time last summer. In due course it was submitted to the local WPA district head, approved, then moved on to San Francisco and again approved and finally reached Washington, D. C. and was there approved. It was then returned and there was a wait for the appropriation. Finally the money was appropriated and made available and the city council was asked to clear out the building last Monday for razing, then a WPA engineer from Sacramento stepped into the picture and said we could not have the city hall after all, because he calculated that it could not be finished by June 30. Appeal has been taken to State Director McLaughlin. Whatever he says will settle the matter.

In the meantime the city council has spent a considerable sum in having plans and specifications drawn and has emptied the city hall of all furniture and fixtures. The WPA has left them out on a limb, but it is not their fault. Really, if it had not taken such an interminable time to secure the various O. Ks' needed, the new city hall could have been started two months ago. And again, it was not generally known that June 30 had been fixed as a dead line for completion of WPA projects. We surmise that finishing date is an afterthough of the authorities in Washington. The AAA reversal, the bonus grant to veterans and other expensive changes wrought upon the New Deal, very possibly are affecting WPA policy. Doubtless administration leaders are looking more closely into spending plans, to see if something may not be salvaged from the four billion program. Thus the embarrasing picture of new city hall away up in the air.

Uncle Cy Hopper ses: The peepul is gittin tired uv the deck uv cyards the Noo Deeler has been deelin 'em. Sum uv the cyards is gettin dogeered, sum hes dirty backs, an' sum air gittin gummy. Thin agin a lot a folks air complainin uv the hands delt 'em in thisere game. The rich ses it's a dirty deel, the Republicans ses it ain't a square deel, an the taxpayer ses it costs a good deel tew much. Fust an last nobuddy wants the ol' deel an few is turnin hansprings over the noo deel. Looks like a chanct fur a sinsibel feller, with a woodin leg an a krutch to win in a walk cum November.

Richard Loeb, who with Nathan Leopold, killed an innocent young boy for the thrill of it, has himself been murdered by a fellow prisoner in Joliet. No one but the parents of this degenerate will grieve, and perhaps they can find solace in that death has closed a horrible chapter in their lives. The episode serves to call to mind again one of the most outrageous miscarriages of justice in American history. The parents of both young men were rich. Smart lawyers succeeded in saving the killeds' necks from the hemp. It was one of those defeats of justice which puts the whetted edge of truth upon the phrase: "You can't convict a million dollars!"

Quoting Al Smith of today against Al Smith of seven years ago is both futile and silly. Probably the man has grown more conservative during the seven intervening years. And—whatever his promises were as a candidate he never had an opportunity to break them or keep them. President Roosevelt's promises, based on the Democratic platform are another matter. First plank, which he endorsed and promised to fulfill was: "We advocate an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenses." Fulfillment: 200,000 more federal employees on the payroll than when Hoover left office. Another plan: "We promise the removal of Government from all fields of private enterpris." Fulfillment: The AAA, the NRA, the TVA, and so on down the alphabet. Another plank: "We favor the maintenance of national credit by a Federal Budget annually balanced. Fulfillment: In three years the budget has not been balanced, and so by and large, it seems a bit cheeky to twit Al Smith for his purely private inconsistency.

P. G. & E. TO SPEND $16,510,075 FOR CONSTRUCTION

P. M. Downing, vice-president and general manager of Pacific Gas and Electric company, announced today the adoption of a program of construction during 1936 that will involve the expenditure of $16,510,075 during the year. This is one of the heaviest additions to capital investment planned by the company for several years.

Construction work projected is distributed throughout the system of the company and covers necessary extensions, replacements and additions in all departments, electric construction requiring a large part of the total sum appropriated.

Completion of the work provided for, Downing declared, will keep the facilities of the system adequate in all respects to meet the increasing demand created by recent voluntary reduction of the compan's rates.

Budget provision for the expenditure appears as a part of the construction, maintenance and operation budget for the year. In addition to the $16,510,075 for construction, $24,396,598, is allowed for maintenance and operation, making a total of $40,906,673 to be spent under the headings.

LAST STORM BRINGS HEAVY FALL OF SNOW

The rainfall for the 1935-36 season to date is about 36.40 inches, which will make the seasonal average in the neighborhood of 1.25 below normal. For the month of January 16.38 inches of rain fell. A storm began February first and recorded 1.11 for the first day. On the second .11 of an inch of rain fell giving a total of 1.22 for the first two days of the new month.

Seven inches of new snow was reported from Cisco. Several cars came into Nevada City during the week end with four or five inches of snow on their tops, and a fall of four inches of snow was reported from the Tahoe Ukiah highway at the Washington road junction, about 12 miles east of this city.

YELLOWJACKETS TAKE WALLOPING

Although full of fight and eager for revenge, the local A and B teams dropped both contests to the Roseville boys at games played in Roseville Friday night. The A score was 25 to 16, and the B, 24 to 14, both games being interesting to watch and close enough to keep the fans from losing hope. Whether or not the substitute official who refereed the contests had anything to do with the losses is not definitely known, but better referees have been seen, to put it mildly.

Starters in the A contest were Elliott, Lopez, Wilde, Steger, and Stevens. Steger, although playing with a severe cold, was high point and chalking up nine of the points. Santinelli and Doolittle also saw action in this game. Santinello being rejected on fouls after playing his usual steady game. Lopez and Steven's both looked good on floor work.

In the B contest, Schiffner, Brown, Gates, Bennett and Mullis started the game. Mullis, in the starting lineup for the first time, remained in the game until the end and played a fine game. Organ, Bonner, and Clark also played before the game ended. Schiffner, sinking more of his long shots than usual, turned in a good game with eight points to his credit. One of his shots, a long one from near-center, was one of the prettiest baskets of the evening.

Next Friday night, the boys will meet their neighbors, the Miners, for the second game of the schedule. It will be a tough contest beyond a doubt, the dope sheet refusing to reveal anything about a probable outcome.

BELOVED MAYOR OF NEVADA CITY IS NO MORE

Alphonso Seaman, mayor of Nevada City, passed away yesterday noon at his home on Clark street, at the age of 74 years. He would have been 75 years of age in April. Noted for his many kindnesses, his unselfish devotion, during three terms on the city council, to the upbuilding of Nevada City, Mayor Seaman's passing is universally mourned throughout this community. The heartfelt sympathy of the city goes out to Mrs. Rosario Seaman, his wife, and their son, Irvine, who survive.

All but six years of Mayor Seaman's life was spent in Nevada City. He came here when a small boy, six years of age, with his parents, who crossed from Indianapolis by way of the Isthmus of Panama, and settled here. On the death of his father, Mr. Seaman, known among his many friends as "Al" took over the blacksmithing business which the elder Seaman had established. The big home built by his father continued to be his home during all the years of his residence in Nevada City.

The business of blacksmithing expanded into a general business of automobile repairing and reconditioning as the years went on, and no man in Nevada county ever maintained a higher standard and higher reputation for thorough and honest craftsmanship than the late mayor. The city inherits a souvenir of the splendid work he turned out on his forge, in the great hand wrought iron hinges that adorn the door of the Community House in Pioneers Park.

It was his intense interest in civic affairs, and his zealous attention to his own growing business that brought the first breakdown in health last August, when he was obliged to drop all of his many activities and take an absolute rest. His spirit chafed at the restrictions placed on his energetic personality and slowly he declined.

Pioneers Park fulfilled a long time dream of Mayor Seaman. Upon it he spent every minute of daylight that he could spare from his business. No detail was too small for his attention. Under his urging the community house in the park was built and equipped by the city council. A roadway was laid down between Park avenue and Nimrod street. At the time the swimming pool funds were finally and definiely ordered to be spent, for their oroginal purpose by the people at the polls, Mr. Seaman, a member of the council, was one of those insistent that the pool should be built in a municipal park.

Up till the sharp cutting off of his activities last August, Mayor Seaman had the energy and the vision of a man of half his years. He was a devoted and faithful member for nearly fifty years of Oustomah Lodge of Odd Fellows in this city. He had occupied every office in the lodge, and until the last few years he had attended regularly the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge.

Besides his wife and son, two sisters survive: Mrs. May Davenport of this city and another sister in Orange county, California. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Holmes Funeral Home and the service will take place at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon in Odd Fellows Hall in this city.

DR. HUMMELT TEACHES ROADSIDE FIRST AID

It is expected twenty persons will take instructions in first aid work at the first meeting of the Roadside First Aid Classes in Washington grammar school this evening. Dr. B. W. Hummelt of Nevada Citu will start giving instructions at eight o'clock, which will be free to any one wishing to take the course.

These classes are sponsored by the National Red Cross and members of the classes will qualify for work in first aid stations in all parts of California. Arrangements have been made for the following stations. North San Juan on the Nevada City Downieville highway; Donner Lake, Tahoe route; and also at the checking station east of Truckee. Other stations will be selected as the need arises. First aid will be rendered in either highway accidents or from some other cause. The instructions are open to anyone wishing to take the lessons.

Attorney Frank Finnegan of Nevada City is chairman of the local Red Cross Chapter.

Grass Valley Man Is Burned To Death; Fire Chief Injured

J. G. Nelson, who resided on Church street near the Jones Memorial hospital in Grass Valley, was burned to death in his home this morning at 5 o'clock. The fire had gained devastating headway when discovered, and the Grass Valley fire department promptly after the alarm was turned in fought a valiant but losing battle in which Fire Chief Harold Whiting, it is believed, was fatally injured.

While Chief Whiting was directing and assisting in the work of subduing the roaring furnace of flames a brick chimney fell and crushed him. He was removed to the Jones Memorial hospital, where, as the Nugget goes to press, little hope of saving his life is entertained. He suffers severe fractures of the skull.

The late J. G. Nelson was a miner, and was the father of Mrs. Joseph Spence, wife of the owner of the Nevada City-Grass Valley bus line.

The news of Fire Chief Whiting's injury, believed to be fatal, also comes as a shock to his many friends in this city. Whiting is thirty two years of age, and has a host of friends in Nevada county who extend to him and his family their deepest sympathy.

Late this afternoon an operation was performed by Dr. Harold Brown, assistant to Dr. H. C. Naffziger, who came up from San Francisco. Following the operation Chief Whiting was removed to his home.

ILLNESS CAUSES SCHOOL CLOSING

Eighty pupils of Washington grammar school were absent this morning suffering from colds and coughs, many present also were ill, and it was decided to close school for the rest of the week. The colds were nearly all among the lower grades. A large number of children were out last week and 71 were absent Friday. Principal Walter Carlson consulted the school authorities last week and it was decided to close if conditions had not improved over the week end. The school authorities feel it would be well if parents would keep the children in, particularly at night, so that they will be well of the colds in time to reopen with a full attendance next Monday.

The P. T. A. Founders Day program scheduled for next Friday has been postponed to a later date owing to the closing of the school from the epidemic of colds.

Long Live The King

(Contributed)

For scarcely more than a week, now, a new monarch has reigned over the British Empire, and shouts of "The King is Dead; Long Live the King!" have ceased to echo across the little island of England.

But the mourning, the ceremony and the sombre pageantry go on, and will go on for a full twelve months. That long it takes to complete the rites attendant upon the death of a king and the ascension of another.

When George V died, a great mass of people gathered silently and solemnly about St. James Palace, and many of them wept. They loved their king, and knew him as an honest, earnest, thoroughly human man. Across the street a canon boomed 70 times, once for each of the king's years on earth. Later a six-month period of full court mourning was proclaimed. Common men and nobles alike bought black bands for their coat-sleeves. Then all the members of the Cabinet and both houses of Parliament began the process of individually swearing fealty to the new king, a ceremony that required three whole days.

It is difficult for an American to understand all this. The English king reigns, perhaps, but does not rule, and is, so far as direct power is concerned, a mere figurehead. Why, we wonder, should England give so much of her time, energy and money to a figurehead, especially when affairs of the moment are pressing unduly and the actual government faces a crisis in international matters?

We do not understand it, but actually England would not be England at all, to her people, without the king. Their illusion of permanence, their sense of nationality, their perspective of historical unity is embodied in the king, and has been since William the Conqueror first took over in 1066, or perhaps even since King Arthur of the round table held sway.

They are bound together by their monarch, and by him also, to a degree, the vast British dominions that constitute a fourth of the world's land and a fourth of its people are bound to England.

This last function is, perhaps, the one remaining active job of the sovereign, and in the new king, Edward VIII whom America has known and respected as the Prince of Wales, is excellently fitted for his task. Too, he is and will continue to be loved by his people, and will exert his moral influence within the country for their best welfare.

May he have a long reign, and a useful one!

The Bloody Story

(Contributed)

Preliminary figures for 1935 traffic accidents have been entered, and another story of highway travel in California has been written in blood.

Forty-eight thousand, four hundred and forty-nine persons were killed or injured during the year, according to the estimate of Ray Ingels, director of the state motor vehicle department. In figures the total looks like this—48,449.

That is the highest toll in the history of the state, being 494 more even than for the death-record year of 1934. November was the worst month—295.

The fact that there were fewer accidents than in 1934 does not decrease the horror of the situation. The tragedy is based upon the number of lives lost, not the number of cars damaged.

Courses are being instituted in schools to teach young people the proper methods of driving.

Attempts are being made to curb the danger created by huge trucks and buses.

After all is said and done, the whole thing is up to the individual motorists. It's an old story, and well-worn by this time, but it still holds true—drive carefully.—North Hollywood Sun-Record.

BOARD BLASTS NEW PROTECTION LIQUOR RACKET

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—"Liquor licensees contemplating memberships in so-called 'protective associations' should thoroughly investigate these organizations before paying any fees to solicitors," Richard E. Collins, chairman of the State Board of Equalization announces.

"Several of these organizations are soliciting memberships from liquor licensees and offering to aid them in observing the state liquor laws," Collins declared that such action was unnecessary.

"There are some associations in this state which are organized on a legitimate basis and perform a real service," Collins said. "Too many of operated solely for the purpose of obtaining as much money as they can from the licensees without giving anything in return except vague promises. We are referring to the State Bar Association the statements of such organizations that fees paid them include legal services for licensees.

"Our attention has been called to certain instances which definitely disprove the claims of these organizations that membership is purely voluntary. We are advised that in some cases solicitors for these organizations have actually threatened the licensees with loss of their liquor licenses if they do not become members.

"The board is fully prepared to cooperate with the licensees by giving them all of the services which are offered as an inducement by joining these associations. Funds obtained from license fees are used to support the Liquor Division of this Board and licensees should consider that in paying their license fees they have not only paid for the privilege of doing business but also for any and all service which the board can give to them in the way of advice and cooperation."

FALLING TREE RAZES PORCH

CAMPTONVILLE, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Carrie Rose narrowly escaped death Wednesday morning when one of the worst north winds that we have had this season blew down a large cedar tree across the street from her home on Spencer Lane. The tree fell, taking away part of the porch. The house is of light construction and had the tree fallen two feet further toward the house it would have crushed that portion in which she was sitting and killed her.

HI GIRLS PLAYGROUND NEXT WPA PROJECT

With the completion of one important project at the Nevada City high school with WPA labor, plans are being laid for an early start on the development of the girls' playfield. Cement, to be used in completing the present tennis court and building a new one, and for the laying of sidewalks where necessary, has been delivered at the grounds, and it is expected that the work will begin shortly.

The project just finished includes the completion of the football field back of the present building, erection of fences and rock walls with drainage facilities for bad weather, installation of two drinking fountains, setting of an iron rail in front of the bleacher seats location. The building of these seats, plans for which have been ready for some time, will also be included in a future project.

Mr. J. R. Magee, assistant ranger from Truckee, spent two days in Nevada City last week and attended the stockmen's meeting in Marysville Saturday.

"RED SALUTE" IS GIVEN NATION-WIDE ACCLAIM

"The Red Salute" the tremendous drama, which has stirred interest throughout the country, starring Barbara Stanwick and Robt. Young, the play sponsored by Trinity Episcopal church in this city, will be presented next Wednesday night at the Nevada Theatre. Not only is this story acclaimed as one of the best produced within the last year, but it has also received highest praise from film producers themselves being accorded all plus marks with no minus marks of any kind. It is highly recommended by the management of the local theatre. With it is a cartoon by Disney, entitled "The Cock of the Walk," which is reported to be as thoroughly amusing as the same artists "Three Little Pigs", which with its song "Whose Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf?" made such a hit two or three years ago.

MINING BOARD LISTED UNDER SECURITY ACT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Registration of the San Francisco Mining Exchange as a National Securities Exchange was granted today by the Securities and Exchange Commission according to telegraphic announcement received from Washington by the Exchange.

The application will become effective on the first of June to provide sufficient time for forwarding to the commission the appropriate forms for the registration of securities listed in the mining exchange.

The San Francisco Mining Exchange has been operating as an exempted exchange since the Securities Erchange Act of 1934 went into force. Its application for registration with the SEC as a National Securities Exchange was filed over a month ago and this application is the subject of the approval order handed down today.

F. H. Walker, president of the San Francisco Mining Exchange said that more than fifty per cent of the companies regularly listed on the exchange have already forwarded the required registration statements to the Securities and Exchange commission. Additional statements are now in process of preparation while some companies have been awaiting definite action on the exchange registration before filing their own statements.

President Walker said that preparations for registration as a National Securities Exchange had involved a sweeping revision of the Constitution and Rules of the Exchange to conform to the new laws, requirements and policies put into effect by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

He said that the Mining Exchange under its new status, is finally in position to expend its business and immeasurably broaden the scope of its usefulness to the gold and silver mining industry of California, Nevada and other western mining regions, as well as provide a market which mining companies and investors in mining issues may now make use of with confidence and assurance of fair practice and efficient service.

Walker pointed out that twenty five stocks had been removed from the list of the San Francisco Mining Exchange in the last fifteen months, mainly for failure to provide the Exchange with adequate information for the benefit of stockholders or prospective investors. He added that the granting of a definite status to the Exchange will be an encouraging factor for inactive listed companies to return to an operating basis but that those remaining inactive or failing to file their necessary registration documents within a specified time will eventnally be delisted .

Modernize Your Home with GAS & ELECTRIC CONVENIENCES

Like all good things, the easy way to buy home conveniences under the Modernization Credit Plan, Title One of FHA, comes to an end on March 31st. Less than sixty days remain.

Already a buying wave has begun. Northern California home-owners and renters are now purchasing the gas and electric appliances their homes lack at the rate of nearly two hundred and fifty thousand dollars a week.

Is the range or water heater in your kitchen out-dated? Won't it pay you to put in modern and economical gas heating equipment? Isn't a new washing machine or ironer needed in your home? Is the wiring system adequate in every room?

Now, while the low cost terms of FHA are still available, buy the modern gas and electric appliances you have always wanted. Nothing down and three years or more of easy terms.

THRONGS AT SAN JUAN'S DANCE

(By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE)

Without doubt the Ridge is dance-minded and Twamley Hall at North San Juan is the mecca for Nevada, Sierra and Yuba counties' nimble-footed dancers. Last Saturday evening a huge crowd witnessed another of the happy affairs that are staged in this town every other week.

Grass Valley, Nevada City and Downieville were amply represented as well as all the other smaller towns but it was decidedly Camptonville's night to honor North San Juan. Mr. George Butz, Mr. Bert Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bishop, Mr. Elwood Shurr and Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of the Gold Pan lodge were among those in attendance with their parties. Besides there was a bevy of pretty girls with their escorts.

The merchants of Grass Valley and Nevada City donated many beautiful prides and full percentage of these lovely gifts were carried off by the folks from Camptonville. Bill Groves of that town won the five dollars cash door prize. Other out of town visitors who won useful gifts were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kneebone of Bridgeport, Mr. Harry Beason, Mr. Carl Kaemer of Washington and Miss Peggy Moody.

Eddie Meltz and his fine orchestra kept the dancers contented with tunes both old and new and the crooning lady delighted the huge crowd singing the songs in her charming manner and sweet voice.

There is a big surprise in store for the crowd next dance night which will be February 15. Watch the newspapers for further information.

LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION MEETS AT MARYSVILLE

About fifty members of the Tahoe National Livestock Association enjoyed a splendid meeting in Marysville last Saturday. The association is composed of the counties of Nevada. Placer, Yuba and Sierra.

Mr. Munson B. Church of Grass Valley was re-elected as president. Fine talks were made by Dr. G. H. Hart, in charge of the department of animal husbandry, of the University of California school at Davis. He spoke concerning experimental feeding of stock at the farm and on the range lands in connection with mineral content of various feeds and results of supplemental feeding when it was found deficient.

Mr. W. P. Wing, secretary of the California Wool Growers Association, discussed stock and stock product marketing generally.

District Attorney Vernon Stoll, secretary of the association, and Superintendent R. L. P. Bigelow of the Tahoe National Forest, were among those from Nevada City attending the meeting.

DR. TULLY KNOLES SPEAKS HERE ON FEBRUARY 10

Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific will deliver an address on "Responsibliities of American Citizenship" at the Methodist church on Monday evening, February 10.

Again Nevada City is fortunate to have so eminent a schoolar come to talk to them. Mrs. H. E. Kjorlie program chairman of the Nevada City Woman's Civic Club has made arrangements for the lecture which will be given under the auspices of the Civic Club. The Methodist church has been generously donated for the occasion.

Individual responsibility as well as group responsibility will be discussed by Dr. Knoles. He who has traveled in many countries and studied conditions which cause unrest and antagonism to the prevailing government will have much to tell the people of Nevada City of responsibilities and activities for its citizens.

Mr. Clarence Shurtleff of Gold Flat who has been receiving treatments the last three weeks in Landis Clinic in Grass Valley, is expected to return home today. His daughter, Mrs. Verda Riccardi, who has been visiting her mother at the Shurtleff home, returned to her home in San Francisco yesterday.
